

Our Mission

The Peace Education Fund's mission is to bring peace and justice education to the widest possible audience and to organize the greatest possible public voice and participation on three priority areas:

- The abolition of nuclear weapons
- Terminating U.S. weapons sales to human rights abusing governments
- Strengthening international cooperation

Learn more

The Peace Education Fund works to shape public debate on America's foreign policy through sustained massive media campaigns, by disseminating compelling and concise information to millions of Americans, and by serving as a leading resource for the media, journalists, citizens' organizations and policymakers.

The Peace Education Fund is the tax-deductible sister organization of Peace Action West, the largest and most active statewide membership peace organization in the United States with nearly 30,000 members in districts from San Diego to Eureka and a national email alert membership of more than 57,000. Find out more about the work of Peace Action West.